Dedication.

I DEDICATE this work to Robert Applegarth, a loyal friend and earnest co-worker with me in the cause of Labour, Elementary and Technical Education, and general Political and Social Progress for forty years.

We have worked together side by side in the vineyard, in the burden and heat of the day, when the labourers were few, the work dangerous as well as harassing, and the recompense mostly public abuse.

His share in the work, in the sixties and early seventies more especially, is not forgotten by those of his colleagues who still survive; by me it is remembered with a comrade's sincere pleasure, and the gratification that he is still my friend and companion.

GEORGE HOWELL.

CHRISTMAS DAY, 1901.
