Acknowledgments

This work was commissioned by the BFUE to commemorate its 50th anniversary, and was written over a two-year period commencing in early 1994. Throughout this period the author received the fullest co-operation from the union, its officials and a large number of its past and present members. The union also provided unrestricted access to its records and minutes, without at any time seeking to influence the work's direction or its final conclusions. The union's General Secretary, Tom Schulz, and its organiser, Darryl Burgess, in particular, made their time freely available. Besides offering their own recollections of the union's history, they arranged factory visits and meetings with past and present BFUE activists. They also read the manuscript as it developed. Other BFUE members who deserve special thanks include Alan Bessell at Murarrie, Barbara Ward, Brian Town and Kev O'Shea at Darling Downs Bacon, Ron Thompson at Warwick and John Pigeon at Kingaroy. Past members who also made their time available include Merv Heyer at Kingaroy, and Rod Gant and Allan Roebig, both formerly at Doboy. A particularly valuable interview was one conducted with the union's founder, Marty Lyons, in March 1994, as Lyons offered recollections and insights that he alone possessed about the union's origins. Tragically, Lyons died a few months later.

This history also received support from a number of current or past employers, who authorised the author to tour their premises and interview their employees. Frank and Bob Hart consented to be interviewed, as did Bob Childs at Kingaroy. Childs also provided the author with his own manuscript history of the Swickers' Bacon Factory. Special thanks are offered to John Coneybeer for the loan of some of his father's industrial bulletins and other records, and for some particularly useful accounts of past negotiations between himself and the union.

As with my previous work, the greatest support has come from my wife, Toni. Besides discussing issues involved in the writing of the union's history and offering helpful suggestions, she proof-read the manuscript on two occasions. Her critical comments were invariably valid. Any remaining errors remain the sole responsibility of the author.
