'UNION ORGANISING' AND THE HEALTH OF THE UNION MOVEMENT IN BRITAIN

BY GREGOR GALL

331.0941

Gregor Gall is Research Professor of Industrial Relations and Director of the Work and Employment Research Unit (WERU) at the University of Hertfordshire. He is author of four research monographs on unions and editor of four volumes on union organising. He has carried out work for Aslef, Connect, FBU, PCS, RMT and the TUC, and writes a fortnightly column for the Morning Star on union matters.

WHAT IS THE INSTITUTE?

The Institute of Employment Rights was launched on 28th February 1989 and was granted charitable status in 1994. As a labour law "think tank", supported by the trade union movement, our purpose is to provide research, ideas and detailed argument on all aspects of employment law. As a charity, however, we are not a campaigning organisation.

The Institute has attracted wide and distinguished support creating a unique network of lawyers, academics and trade unionists. Among the membership are John Hendy QC, Professor Keith Ewing, Professor Aileen McColgan, Jim Mortimer, Tess Gill and the general secretaries of Britain's largest trade unions.

The results of our work are published in papers and booklets. We also provide short articles, free of legal jargon, for trade union journals and other publications. Dissemination of our ideas is increasingly achieved through seminars and conferences as well as our educational courses.

The Institute does not assume that legal measures can offer ultimate solutions for political, economic and social problems. However, we recognise that law has a part to play in influencing the employment relationship, both individually and collectively. Our funding is from various sources, including subscriptions, which entitle subscribers to a copy of all our new publications and reductions in conference fees.

If you are interested in subscribing or would like to know more about the Institute, then contact us at The People's Centre, 50-54 Mount Pleasant, Liverpool, L3 5SD or email us at office@ier.org.uk. Or visit our website at www.ier.org.uk
